Odds and Ends of Gossip.

THE WARRIOR'S RETURN.

From the field of war I come,
Sweet Marie,
Will you kill me welcome home,
Lover, to thee?
I am only a son and honest,
All my sweet songs are gross,
And I'm full of armyn prunes
As I can be.

O, I got it in the neck,
I am but a battered wreck,
Don't you see?
In the mud and rain I slept,
While the heavy heavens wept,
And the buzzards vigils kept
Over me.

When I listed I was fat,
Sweet Marie,
Never was a Thomas a Cat,
Spry as me.

I could run like any deer,
And there never was a bear,
In my eye.

Now I'm thinner than a ghost,
Sweet Marie,
You make a hitching post
Out of me.

Every joint that's in my frame
Is feverish fleshe lame—

Oh! Gehenna was no name

For the spear!

But I'm with you once again,
Sweet Marie,

Though you don't seem to identify me.

Now that I am on my feet
And will have a chance to eat
Pill your appetite most.

Than you see,

From the bitter quinine pill
(Ugh! O! Gee!)

And from Santiago chills.

I am free.

Now I live almighty high,
And I would be as spry
As the boy who kissed good-bye,
Sweet Marie.

Sweet Marie, list to me, list to me,

Sweet Marie,

Thee I bring skeleton

Now you see,

I have got the framework yet,
And the most I soon will get,

Well, why yet you, Marie-e-e-e.

NEW FASHIONS—I notice in a

Fashion magazine that the edict has gone forth that men are to wear their hair longer—longer than it has been worn for some years: This will doubtless put some of the local chappies in a quandary, for some of them have already allowed their classic locks to grow to the limits of reason, and if any additional inches are added they will be put to the necessity of consulting their sisters, or the Indian Medicine Man as to the plait or curling papers. Another fashion note says that a decided change has come in trousers: From now on these garments are to be made appreciably longer, and the correct thing will be to turn them up and keep them turned up a good part of the time. What the theory of this is cannot be discovered; but, at all events, it is the fact. In reference to this new fashion tailors this fall will finish up their trousers on the inside near the bottom, putting straps neatly along the seam.

THEY DON'T LIKE IT.—Some

of the worthy citizens of the county are making a big kick over the road law which is being enforced, now, that requires a man to work six days out the year on the public roads without compensation. Some cases of open rebellion against the enforcement of the law have been reported. Several of the overseers have complained that they find it impossible to get some men in their district to work. A case of open rebellion against the law, and one which may have been intended for a test case had it been decided, but it was not decided, for it was tried by a jury and the jury disagreed, was that of James Barnett, who was arrested and tried on the charge of refusing to work the road. The law on the subject is plain, and it provides in effect that each and every able-bodied voter in County shall give six days labor on the roads, and that it is to the Fiscal Court whether or not he will be allowed any pay or compensation whatever. In the case of our county, Fiscal Court has decided that no compensation will be allowed, and that the citizen must give his work for the benefit of the county. This action becomes necessary, they say, on account of the lack of funds available for road purposes.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Miss Joanna Tobin of Bardstown visited at Mrs. Mary Louise's Sunday.

Mr. J. M. Wall is on the sick list.

Married, on Oct. 19 in Springfield, by Rev. W. M. Stullings, Mr. Jonas Crume of Poplar Flat to Miss Ora Kate Troutman of Booker. Miss Ora is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Troutman and is an accomplished young lady. Mr. Crume is to be congratulated on securing such a lady for a wife. May their pathway be full of sunshine and flowers is the wish of their many friends.

Mr. H. D. Stiles of near Springfield was here Sunday.

Our farmers have begun cribbing their corn. Some are selling at $1 per barrel.

About a dozen of our neighbors took in the excursion last Sunday.

A large crowd from here was in Springfield Monday to hear the speaking.

MARION NEWS.

From The Enterprise.

Wednesday night, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock Dr. W.

W. Cleaver's barn, which was situated about seven-and-a-half

one hundred yards east of his residence, caught fire and burned completely up. The doctor, horse, harness and buggy and quite a quantity of storage material was in the building, all of which was destroyed, with the exception of the horse and buggy. When discovered, the fire was ready to fall in.

The prompt arrival of the fire company prevented the spreading of the flames to the neighboring buildings and residences. The property was insured for $400.

The members of Company F,

Second regiment, Kentucky volunteers, who have been home on a thirty days furlough, returned
